

Originally formulated in the late 18th century for export. Strongly-hopped and higher in alcohol allowed it to survive the long voyage from England to India and was highly regarded among its consumers there.

Little did the brewers back then realize, they created one of the most popular craft beer styles of our times.

Gulp in the flavour that stirs your veins!

Robust, malty, alcoholic and a hop profile that might catch you off guard. This beer is deep-coppery in colour, with an off-white head. Generous late Cascade/Citra/Chinook-hop additions add citrus, pine and tropical fruit character which complements the sturdy malt backbone.

Very aromatic and fragrant – irresistible to your taste-buds!
